PREFACE

Dear Visitor,

The Fine Food Australia exhibition is one of the leading trade events in the food industry and continually attracts visitors and exhibitors within the retail, foodservice and hospitality sectors from all over the world. Following the success of Advantage Austria's participation in the past ten consecutive years, the Austrian Federal Economic Chamber is once again organising an official Austrian Pavilion displaying the country's high quality produce and equipment at this year's show

Austria was the first country in the world to establish national regulations for organic farming. In 2019, Austrian farmers are utilising 25 percent of arable land for organic farming – the highest percentage in the world! "Bio products" have thus become the flagship of Austrian quality and made the country an international organic champion.

The interest in obtaining "a taste of Austria" is growing rapidly, and an ever-increasing number of consumers around the globe are appreciating fine Austrian food and beverages. With an export rate of 60%, the Austrian agricultural and food industry has become a key driver of the country's outstanding economic performance.

At this year's Austrian Pavilion at the Fine Food Exhibition in Sydney we are proud to present a wide variety of Austrian manufacturers of exquisite foods and drinks as well as state-of-the-art foodservice solutions and high-quality equipment for the hospitality sector. Please browse the following pages to learn more about their exciting product-range. We know you will be tempted by what is on offer. Visit our Pavilion and enjoy the taste of Austria!

Feldbacher Fruit Partners GmbH is a family business from Austria and can meanwhile look back on over 40 years of experience in the horseradish business.

The most innovative product is the horseradish-brand "Rooty's": chilled, freshly grated horseradish preserved in glass jars or tubs, with a naturally pungent taste, and it will keep well for up to six months. The quality is absolutely fresh, thanks to many years of experience making freshly grated horseradish. A portion of freshly grated, freshly cleaned "Rooty's" brings invigorating freshness and flavour straight from the field to your table.
